Apply Now for Library Public Programming Grants for Civil War 150

The Gilder Lehrman Institute of American History, in partnership with The Library of America, is now accepting applications from libraries and National Park historic sites for grants to develop public programming around the free traveling panel exhibition Civil War 150. The exhibition is part of Civil War 150: Exploring the War and Its Meaning through the Words of Those Who Lived It, a major three-year project funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities. The project is centered on the four-volume Library of America series The Civil War Told by Those Who Lived It and includes a collection of readers (discussion guides) drawn from the series.

Fifty sites selected by competitive application to host the Civil War 150 exhibition will each be awarded a grant of $1,000 to plan accompanying public programming. The exhibition is available for three-week periods from October 2012 to March 2015. Hosting sites will also receive supporting interpretive and contextual materials, including the Civil War 150 readers and access to a multimedia website with robust digital resources. Public, academic, and special libraries as well as National Park historic sites are invited to submit applications for the public programming grants and exhibition. The application deadline is July 15, 2012. To apply, please visit www.gilderlehrman.org/civilwar150grant.

Digital Trailers for the 21st Century Library

Join us for a fun and interactive workshop designed for 21st century librarians! Participants will learn how to entice readers through creating book trailers of popular books for every age using digital media and a little creativity. Book trailers are the perfect vehicle to stimulate readers' interest. Learn how to create trailers from scratch and harness available technologies found on your computer and the Internet.

Workshop presenter, Naomi Bates, has been a school librarian for the past 12 years. She taught high school English and speech prior to that. Naomi's passions are YA books, technology, and continuing to learn and grow in today's rapidly evolving, vibrant library world. She maintains an active web presence including a blog, YA Books and More, a YouTube Channel, and Twitter.

September 13th, 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. at Burton Barr Central Library, Phoenix. For more information, contact Dale Savage, dsavage@azlibrary.gov. Sign up today at <http://www.lib.az.us/eventreg/>. May be counted for Library Practitioner Certification credit.

Get Real: Getting Kids Excited about Nonfiction

The Arizona Common Core Standards will require a much greater reliance on nonfiction. From practical experience booktalking to thousands of kids, School Library Journal columnist and nationally known workshop leader Kathleen Baxter, the Nonfiction Booktalker, feels that nonfiction can be the key to getting kids to read.

Workshop participants will be motivated and energized as they acquire a practical repertoire of dozens of booktalks and books that appeal to kids and meet standards in this laughter-filled, fast-moving workshop. Participants will receive annotated handouts.

September 14th & 15th, 9:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. at the Carnegie Center, Phoenix. For more information, contact Dale Savage, dsavage@azlibrary.gov. Sign up today at <http://www.lib.az.us/eventreg/>. May be counted for Library Practitioner Certification credit.

Serving People with Mental Illness or Disability in Your Library

Chris Perez, a seasoned Phoenix area law enforcement professional who brings unique clinical and field experience, will discuss problematic and disruptive behaviors along with strategies for dealing with difficult patrons and how to read behavioral cues to avoid abuse and assault.

September 28th, 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. at a venue to be determined in the Prescott area. For more information, contact Dale Savage, dsavage@azlibrary.gov. Sign up today at <http://www.lib.az.us/eventreg/>. May be counted for 3 contact hours in Facilities.
